The ideal candidate for this job has a relentless belief in all kids and will thrive in an environment where on one day he/she may be walking a school leader through her funding allocation and the next day building a smarter system for staff expense reporting. This position will also have an impact far beyond finance—we need a talented individual to help us build a culture of continuous operational improvement across our organization.

WHO YOU ARE

- Minimum of a bachelor's degree, MBA or master's degree in related field is ideal but not required.
 - High-level of attention to detail – every penny counts
- Understanding of the importance of balancing compliance and innovation in the public sector
 - Eats Excel (or more sophisticated) financial models for breakfast
 - Understanding intricacies of South Carolina school finance not required but preferred
 - Unshakeable belief in the ability of every South Carolina student, regardless of race, income, or circumstance.
